This file contains the boundaries for Strategic Clinical Networks in England as at April 2013.

There are 12 Strategic Clinical Networks (SCNs) in England, which are locality classifications created in April 2013 by the NHS Commissioning Board. The SCNs bring together health professionals to support commissioners, with the aim to improve the quality of care and outcomes for patients.

Cancer prevalence has been calculated for each SCN in England, identifying the number of people living with cancer (and crude rate per 100,000) who were diagnosed between 1991 and 2010 for 21 different common cancer sites.

NHS Area Teams in England

This file contains the boundaries for NHS area teams in England as at June 2012. There were 27 NHS area teams in England. The NHS area teams take on the responsibility of GP and dental services, pharmacy and certain aspects of optical services.

(Note that since the time of data extraction, during the Macmillan-NCIN UK Cancer Prevalence Project, the number of NHS Area Teams has now been reduced to 25. The three London Area Teams are now one NHS Area Team.)

Cancer prevalence has been calculated for each NHS Area Team in England, identifying the number of people living with cancer (and crude rate per 100,000) who were diagnosed between 1991 and 2010 for 21 different common cancer sites.
